Course duration – 1 day

Process Safety Leadership for Senior Executives

What is it?

A highly practical course tailored to the needs of Senior Executives and Board Members. This one-day training course offers a clear insight into how to promote a positive safety culture throughout your organisation through the effective engagement of your workforce.

It provides participants with the tools to develop a detailed understanding of the business case for effective process safety management.

Who should attend?

The course has been specifically designed for Senior Executives and Board Members of high hazard facilities, who are ultimately responsible for process safety performance within their organisation.

For companies with boards located outside of the UK, then the responsibility to demonstrate this leadership will lie with the most senior UK executives.

How is it delivered?

The training can be delivered on-site to groups of up to 10 delegates. Included with the in-house course is a review day which will take place within six months of the training. For individuals or smaller groups we run open courses across the UK.

The course is delivered by highly experienced Cogent Skills assured training providers, using case studies and group discussions to actively engage all participants. All delegates will be given exclusive access to a suite of video case studies designed to reinforce the learning for up to three years.

"The Process Safety Leadership for Senior Executives course was very well received by all participants and it has helped improve our levels of Process Safety understanding - we couldn't have done it without Cogent Skills!

Ron Ramshaw, Health and Safety Manager at Interconnector

"HSE is keen to support the development and delivery of training and coaching for board members and managers in process safety.

It is essential that the momentum on improving competence in process safety management is maintained throughout the sector in order to ensure those involved in managing major hazard risks gain and maintain the knowledge and skills essential to avoid a major accident.

We have come a long way since the disastrous events of Buncefield but it would be wrong to think that the task of improving competence has been completed."

Ian Travers, Health and Safety Executive

Process Safety Leadership for Senior Executives course is part of the Process Safety industry training standards*

"The one day Process Safety Leadership course provided an excellent platform to engage with our Senior Leadership Team and develop common understanding of the subject.

As a result of this engagement we have produced a set of short and medium term Process Safety improvement initiatives for our Teesside Site facilities."

Darren Smith, SABIC UK Petrochemicals EHS Director

"This course has made me aware of the discomfort in our failings – I am keen to make a difference. I will implement the three main questions on general awareness to absorb cultural pointers"

Deborah Feldhaus, Risk and Solutions Manager, Yorkshire Water

* The training standards have been developed for industry by industry as a national framework for continuing professional development (CPD) in the process industries.
