

Process Safety Management Refresher

Course duration - 1 day

Process Safety Management Refresher courses are designed for companies who want to refresh and substantiate their knowledge and understanding of Process Safety Management issues.

About the Course

Process Safety Management Refresher courses are designed for companies who want to refresh and substantiate their knowledge and understanding of Process Safety Management issues. They are flexible courses based on the industry standards, that are designed so you can choose the areas of process safety that are important to you and your organisation.

This course enables you to revisit key learning and principles of Process Safety Management helping you to maintain the right level of understanding of the subject within your organisation. It also allows you to review progress made on action plans as well as set Process Safety Management objectives going forward.

As with all of Cogent's Process Safety courses, these courses will be delivered by an industry experienced delivery partner who is assured to deliver to the recognised standards.

Delegates will be challenged to extend their learning and ensure they are able to promote a positive process safety culture.

How is it delivered?

The course will be delivered on site and has been specifically designed with a flexible approach to allow the organisation to choose the elements which are most important to them.

The course also includes a review of how far the delegate and the organisation have progressed in their process safety journey and you will be supported to ensure continuing progress.

Delegates will also have the option of being able to access online assessments for Process Safety Management Foundations and Process Safety Management for Operations (different options are available).

The course is delivered by highly experienced Cogent Skills assured training providers, using case studies and group discussions to actively engage all participants. All delegates will be given exclusive access to a suite of video case studies designed to reinforce the learning for up to three years.

Who should Attend?

This course is designed for all previous attendees from Process Safety Leadership for Senior Executives, Process Safety Management Foundations and Process Safety Management for Operations training courses.

It is designed for companies who want to refresh and reinvigorate their knowledge and understanding of Process Safety Management issues.

HSE is keen to support the development and delivery of training and coaching for board members and managers in process safety.

It is essential that the momentum on improving competence in process safety management is maintained throughout the sector in order to ensure those involved in managing major hazard risks gain and maintain the knowledge and skills essential to avoid a major accident.

We have come a long way since the disastrous events of Buncefield but it would be wrong to think that the task of improving competence has been completed.

Ian Travers,
Health and Safety Executive
